The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: In the specification on page 1 – This application is a 371 of PCT/US03/35029 filed 11/4/2003, which claims benefit of 60/423,368 filed 11/04/2002, and is a CIP of 10/358,445 filed 2/4/2003, now US Patent 6,736,979. – should be included. Appropriate correction is required.

Claims 1-4, 7-18, and 21-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 and 14 are considered incomplete because it is essential that the instant device include a microbubble emitter for emitting gas bubbles of a specific size, and the instant method include a step for emitting microbubbles or gas bubbles of a specific size, in view of page 4 paragraphs [0022] and [0023] of the instant specification. Claims 2-4, 7-13, 15-18, and 21-25 depend from the above claims.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WO 98/01394 Cordemans et al. It is submitted that Cordemans et al. (see Abstract) appear to teach the structure of the device and the method steps recited in the instant claims.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re

Art Unit: 1797

Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-27 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 of U.S. Patent No. 6,540,922, 1-11 and 23 of U.S. Patent No. 6,736,979, and 1-11 of U.S. Patent No. 7,267,778 . Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the method steps and structure of the device recited in the instant claims appears to be fully encompassed by the method steps and structure recited in the respective claims of the patents. Furthermore, since the inventive entity in 6,540,992 is different from the instant invention, applicants should include evidence that the instant invention was commonly owned at the time the inventions were made.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
